

Full Disclosure: Toward an Honest Commemoration of the American War in Viet Nam

<http://www.vietnamfulldisclosure.org/>

The Full Disclosure campaign is a Veterans For Peace effort to speak truth to power and keep alive the antiwar perspective on the American War in Viet Nam. It is a clear alternative to the Department of Defense's (DoD) efforts to sanitize and mythologize the US conflict in the Viet Nam war, legitimizing the continuation of further unnecessary and destructive wars.

President Obama has announced his plan for a 13-year-long commemoration beginning in 2012. Rather than conducting an honest evaluation gleaming important lessons from the US intervention in Vietnam, the DoD is promoting an ex post facto justification of the war without acknowledging the terrible destruction and damage done to the Vietnamese people and land. It does not mention the millions of Vietnamese, including women and children who were captured and tortured and killed. Neither does the DoD discuss the lasting impact of this conflict on American soldiers and their families – from loss of life and physical disabilities and illnesses – to the transmission of birth defects to their progeny. There is no representation of the heroic American soldiers who resisted the American War in Vietnam; nor any real acknowledgment of domestic protest. And the DoD project does not pay tribute to the voices and postwar reconciliation activities of many antiwar veterans.

Our goal is to mount a national campaign to present an accurate and honest history of the American War in Viet Nam. This campaign will include:

- 1. Protests at DoD-sponsored events.
- 2. Teach-ins beginning in the spring of 2015 -- the 50th anniversary of the original teach-ins.
- 3. Development of mobile exhibits of art and photography on Viet Nam and modern warfare.
- 4. Speaking tours and forums on issues including chemical warfare, attacks on civilians, the fantasies of automated, robotic war, the legacies of war (particularly Agent Orange).
